

12.30 lunchtime concerts in Leatherhead

Did you know you can hear a professional classical concert most Thursday lunchtimes from April to November, without leaving Leatherhead? And once a month there is a Wednesday organ concert here too?

This is our fourth season and we've built up a dedicated following of regular concertgoers who enjoy the variety of chamber music and the high standard presented by our performers. Composers represented have ranged from the classical masters to new discoveries, and instruments include the standard duos and trios alongside more unusual combinations such as flute, viola and harp, or two accordions. Singers also regularly add to the mix.

Our performers are international students and recent graduates of the Royal Academy of Music and London's other world-famous music colleges, and local musicians of a similar standard.

This handy leaflet lists the year's concerts. There are details on our website too and, as the date approaches, you will find a web-page with details of the performers and programme for each concert.

Ask for our weekly e-newsletter which also tells you about these concerts and other local music-making. Please e-mail us at: musiconthursdays@gmail.com.
